President at Rocky Mountain Region Disaster Mental Health Institute

1 visible recommendation for this position:  [Edit ]

"Whether providing crisis and disaster response education and intervention, or publishing books on the subjects, George Doherty raises the bar for all of us. He is a brilliant man who never stops giving, caring, and teaching. George has been a valuable resource to Civil Air Patrol, assembling local crisis responders to assure that our volunteers received needed care after crises, a 24/7 responder and advisor who has demonstrated tremendous heart and dedication." “George is a man adept at wearing many hats, he is a talented and resourceful counselor, educator and resource manager. George has put aside personal gain over many years to set aside time to build and maintain the Rocky Mountain Region Disaster Mental Health Institute. This organization's mission has been to bring into Wyoming opportunities to train individuals and organizations in the principles of Critical Incident Stress Management as well provide training in disaster mental health in order to mitigate the effects of disaster and/or critical incidents. He is one of the few people I have had the privilege to know that I can say has 'made a difference.'”

“George Doherty is a gifted writer, speaker and Disaster Responder. He has taught several courses at Psychceu, and students rave about his work. One student, a Colonel (retired), who serves abroad as a Quality and Safety Standards Officer, wrote, "I have just now completed the CISM Course conducted by your organization. It is indeed an excellent course and I have learned a great deal from it."” May 5, 2010

“George is very organized and was able to put together a conference with presenters from around the country. I think he does this yearly. They excellent in both the organization and quality of the conference. I have also talked professionally about work and he is exceptionally strong in his clinical and theoretical understanding of his work.” May 5, 2010
